

Senior Legal Counsel - Pharmaceutical

About Our Client

Our Client is a multinational in the Pharmaceutical industry, a market leader in their area of specialisation. Due to continuing business requirements, they are looking for a Senior Legal Counsel to head the legal function in the Asia Pacific region.

Job Description

Reporting to the Head of Legal, you will provide legal advice and manage contracts to support the organisation's business activities in the Asia Pacific and minimise and mitigate legal risk while supporting the business growth. This includes drafting, reviewing and negotiating contracts ensuring compliance with legal and regulatory rules as well as the organisation guidelines. You will also lead any litigation and dispute resolution.

The Successful Applicant

You are a Qualified Lawyer with at least 10 years post qualification experience, some gained in the pharmaceutical, life sciences or medical device space with strong technical knowledge of the relevant laws and guidelines in the industry. A highly self-motivated and independent individual, you are you have a demonstrated track record of partnering and influencing diverse stakeholders on a regional scale.

What's on Offer

You can look forward to an exciting opportunity to be part of a fast growing multinational with broad exposure that will allow you to build well rounded experiences.